

Nucor – Yamato Steel Company

Environmental Policy

Nucor – Yamato Steel Company (NYS), recognizes its role in protecting the environment of the communities in which we live, work, and raise our families. Protecting the environment is critical to our operations and our long-term success. We will commit the resources necessary to promote continual improvement in our environmental stewardship. To this end, we will do this by implementing and communicating to our employees and members of our community our FAMILY principle.

F – Foster: As environmental stewards we will foster a company atmosphere of compliance to all applicable environmental laws and regulations and strive to go beyond compliance.

A – Action: As environmental stewards we will show through our actions that environmental protection is the responsibility and obligation of each employee, vender, supplier, and principal contractor.

M – Minimize: As environmental stewards we will minimize the potential for plant operations to impact the environment by evaluating effective technologies and opportunities to promote waste minimization and pollution prevention.

I – Improve: As environmental stewards we will strive to continually improve by regularly evaluating our environmental performance goals and objectives, investing in best- marking ideals, and the effectiveness of our Environmental Management System.

L – Leadership: As environmental stewards we will commit ourselves to become leaders in our industry in protecting the environment and being efficient in the use of raw materials.

Y – You: By 'Let's Do It Together' we will ensure our competitiveness, profitability, and long-term successes by maximizing the effective use of resources.
